Gazley-Collins Wedding In Okeechobee

A wedding of interest was that of Miss Cora Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Collins of Okeechobee City, to Mr. John P. Gazley of Miami which took place at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church in Okeechobee City.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of roses, lilies, ferns, and palms. Lighted candles furnished the only illumination.

Before the ceremony "O Perfect Love" was sung by a trio composed of Mrs. J. C. Wolfe, Miss Ann Pressnell, and Mr. T. W. Connelly, jr., accompanied by Miss Virginia Bird. Following this number Miss Pressnell played "Traumerei" and then Mr. Connelly sang "Roses of Picardy," accompanied by Miss Pressnell. During the ceremony "Diane" was softly played by Miss Virginia Bird. Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the processional, was played by Miss Pressnell. The bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" was used as the recessional and was also played by Miss Pressnell.

Mrs. Charles L. Pierce of West

Cella Lou Pierce, niece of the bride, carried the white satin pillow on which the bride and groom knelt in taking their vows. She wore a dainty white frock with a pink sash and hat. Another little niece, Peggy Sue Pierce, wearing white with a blue hat and sash, scattered pink rose petals before the bride.

The ring service was performed by the Rev. J. M. Taylor of Fort Pierce, assisted by the Rev. John P. Gaines.

A reception was held afterward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collins. The house was decorated with roses and spring flowers. In the receiving line with the bridal party were Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Gazley of Coral Gables, parents of the groom, and Mrs. Margaret Mitzger.

Mrs. Collins wore grey crepe with a large hat of leghorn and pink tulle. Mrs. Gazley wore apricot georgette with a picture hat of black hairband. Mrs. Metzger's gown was of black satin with which she wore beige accessories.
