Senator Robinson Stresses Urgent Need for Storm Aid

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—Senator Robert R. Robinson, of Florida, and chairman of the Senate committee on commerce, announced to the Senate today that the situation in the hurricane-battered state was "beyond description," and that the Senate should move with speed to help the victims of the disaster.

"The entire section of the state that I visited during the past two days was laid waste by the storm," Senator Robinson said. "The whole area from Jacksonville to Miami was literally decimated. The damage here is incalculable. The situation is desperate, and we must act quickly to save lives and prevent further suffering."

Senator Robinson said that his committee had been working on a bill to provide relief for the victims, and that he hoped to have it before the Senate for consideration soon.
