TREAT 'EM ROUGH AT STRAND SATURDAY

Tom Mix in "Treat 'em Rough," a drama production based on the famous novel of "The Two Gun Man," written by Charles Alden Seltzer and produced by William Fox, will be the feature at the Strand theater Saturday.

"Treat 'em Rough" is said to be the greatest romance story of the western plains ever screened, and as the hero of this remarkable story, Tom Mix is seen at his best. His daring feats of horsemanship and gun play have made him one of the most admired stars in pictures. There is nothing too hazardous for this remarkable actor to attempt, as the bulldozing of a wild steer in "Treat 'em Rough" will prove.

NEW ATTRACTIONS AT THE SPANISH CASINO

There will be two different and distinct revues provided by the Marcus Musker Comedy Company which will appear at the Spanish Casino, Ybor City, two nights and Sunday matinee, starting Saturday night, January 25. "The Zany" will be the first of the new and will be seen on Saturday night only. During the engagement, "Pretty Butterfly," the new 1919

Marcus revue, will be given its first showing on Sunday, matinee and night. Because of its recent New York run "Oh Baby" perhaps has the most interest and was chosen as the first of the collection for the presentation here. The revue was divided into ten scenes and runs the gamut from side splitting comedy to grand opera. The feminine element is foremost, adorning as it does the stage in some scores or more melodious musical numbers.

Miko Sacks, star comedian, has the greatest opportunity of his career. Here at least is a true artist who manages to extract every bit of comedy from the Hebrew character and dialect without becoming an offense to members of the race. He is to the Jewish folk what the late Joseph Jefferson was to Americans. His characters are one unending joy.

"Oh Baby" is regarded as the most elaborate of the Marcus offerings. It numbers among its pictorial features "At the Gates of Araby," an oriental spectacle which is said to have involved over $10,000 for costumes and scenery alone.

GUS HILL'S BIG MINSTRELS

The advent of Gus Hill's Minstrel organization may be likened to the "back to nature" movement advocated by theorists. Minstrelry is the one and only genuine American form of entertainment.

No other country in the world has the inimitable dandy of the old South. A typical minstrel show, such as Mr. Hill has conceived, takes us back to "the happy land of cotton." No more picturesque environment could be desired. No sweeter music was ever written than the "coon" or southern melodies. No cleaner, purer, or more harmless amusement can be imagined—yet entertaining to the fullest extent. There are few farce or musical comedies in the past decade that do not owe their success to minstrelry. In fact the stage owes more to old-fashioned minstrelry than to all the "highbrow" authors in the country rolled into one. No American producer of the present day is better fitted to revive this form of amusement than Gus Hill, who has thirty-five years of unceasing activity in the "coon" or southern melodies. No cleaner, purer, or more harmless amusement can be imagined—yet entertaining to the fullest extent.

SPANISH INFLUENZA MORE DEADLY THAN WAR

Said That Epidemic Cost more Lives Than American Loss in Battle. Danger Not Over. Great Care Necessary to Prevent Further Outbreak.

The appalling ravages of Spanish Influenza in this country are perhaps best realized by the statement recently made, that more deaths were reported in little more than a month from this disease than through our whole eighteen months participation in the battles of the European War.

Our greatest danger now, declare authorities, is the great American tendency to forget easily and to believe the peril is over. Competent authorities claim the coming of cold weather is very apt to bring a return of this disease and there should be no let-up throughout the winter months of the following easily observed precautions for preventing the disease. Influenza is far easier to prevent than cure. Influenza is a crowd disease. Avoid crowds as much as possible. Influenza germs spread when ignorant and careless persons sneeze or cough without using a handkerchief. Cover up each cough or sneeze. Do not spit on the floor, sidewalk, in street cars or public places. Avoid the use of common drinking cups and roller towels in public places. Breathe some reliable germicidal and antiseptic air at frequent intervals. You should carry this inhaler about with you during the day and each half hour or so put it in your mouth and draw deep breaths of the pure, healing germ-killing air in the passages of your nose, throat and lungs.

By destroying germs before they actually begin work in your blood, you may make yourself practically immune to infection.

All these suggestions about Spanish influenza are equally true in the prevention of colds, catarrh of nose and throat, bronchitis, pneumonia, and influenza become careless. Do your part. Keep the germs away. You may save yourself a serious illness and the loss of several weeks work. Buy your medicine at Court Square Pharmacy.
