State Railroad Commission Makes Twenty-fourth Annual Report

TALLAHASSEE, March 8.—(Special.)—The twenty-fourth annual report of the State Railroad Commission to the governor, among other things, recommends the following legislation:

In view of the rapid growth in the population of the state and the increased number of automobiles and persons being served by public utilities of one kind or another, it is important at this time in the public interest for the legislature to enact a public utilities law, under which there may be a comprehensive regulation of utilities serving the public.

In passing, it may be well briefly to recall what legislative laws have heretofore been passed by the legislature of Florida, dealing with the subject of control of public utilities.

The commissioners have prepared a bill and recommend to the legislature the passage of same, which changes the name of the railroad commission to "The Public Utilities Commission," that preserves all of the powers heretofore exercised over railroad, steamboat, express, telegraph and telephone companies, and brings under the jurisdiction of the commission other utilities serving the public, viz.: Street railways, gas, light, power and transmission companies.

HOTEL MEN OF THE STATE TO GATHER

ANNUAL CONVENTION AT ORLANDO

Will Cover the Three Days of April 5, 6 and 7—Many Social Events

ORLANDO, March 8.—(Special.)—Arrangements for the sixth annual convention of the Hotel and Motel Association at Orlando, are now practically completed with the dates fixed for April 5, 6, and 7.

It is expected that one of the most important meetings of the association ever held, because of the many interesting questions that are bound to be raised by the delegates, will also be the largest in point of attendance if members keep their promises of attending, as more than a hundred have declared their intentions of being at the convention.

Orlando hotel men are working hard to get things in shape for their guests, and many invited guests are looking forward to the occasion. During the three days of the convention, no member or invited visitor will be allowed to present a bill, and the rare entertainment features provided will prove a general round of pleasures for all who attend.

Registration of members and guests will be the opening business of the first day, after which there will be a "sponsors' acquaintance" meeting at a buffet luncheon. The afternoon will be left open, and in the evening a dinner dance will provide entertainment.

The first business session will be held during the morning of the second day, and a luncheon at the Seminole hotel at Winter Park will follow, with Manager Foley of that well known hotel presiding as host.

Another business session on the third day, followed by a trip to Palm Springs, where bathing can be enjoyed in the big pool and a picnic dinner under the trees, will constitute the program for that day. The business session on the 7th will conclude with election of officers and selection of the meeting place for the seventh annual convention in 1922. It is reported that delegations from St. Petersburg and Jacksonville will look horns for the next year's meeting, and some lively interest is sure to develop.

Details of the meeting are handled by Orlando hotelmen, with R. E. Grabel, manager of the Hotel Empyre, as chairman; he being assisted by Dorothy Miller of the Hotel Wyoming; E. P. Foley, Hotel Seminole; Harry L. Beeman, proprietor of the San Juan; J. R. Hilbert, hotel St. Charles; Maurice Dunn, Hotel Jamaica; and J. R. Beeman, manager of the San Juan; and others who are striving to make the event surpass previous meetings of the kind held in the beautiful central Florida city.

It is expected that the convention will attract some of the most prominent hotel men of the country and it is an assured fact that many matters will be introduced that will mean much for the future progress of Florida, and that the hotel business of that State. During the past year the membership of the association has increased to a great extent. The list now includes nearly twenty-two members, besides a large number of associate members.

Reservations will be made for all who attend, by Secretary Whitney, and further information of the convention may be had by writing to him at Jacksonville.

What Can a Woman Do When Her Family Complains? THAT breakfast was not a success, because the children didn't like their cereal with plain milk, and father said his coffee was watery. You reminded them rather sharply that cream cost money—remember?

AND that same night you had over a quart of milk left over, so to use it up you had rice pudding for the third time that week and they all complained some more. What can a woman do? Use Every Day Milk, of course, like several hundred thousand other women. Give it to the children on their cereal and to father in his coffee, because it is so like rich, delicious cream. No complaints then! And have the kind of dessert they like instead of being forced to cook milk dishes to use up your day's supply of bottled milk. Every Day doesn't stand over you like bottled milk and make you like it whether you want to or not, and whether your family wants it or not. Every Day just sits up there on the shelf and says, "Here I am when you want me, madam—rich, creamy quality milk for less than bottled milk costs—and don't worry about the ice man, or the milk man either!" No wonder your grocer nods approvingly when you say "Every Day." He knows how much easier your housekeeping is going to be!
